

Indiana Elite 2020 and 2019 Nationally Ranked

On April 25th Indivisible Hoops (Indihoops.com) came out with its first national rankings of AAU Travel Basketball teams for the 2019 and 2020 classes. Indiana Elite was well represented as the 2020 group was ranked 4th and 2019 ranked 2nd. Here is a look at how they got there.

2019

This group is now 10-0 on the young season and over half of their wins have come against Adidas Gauntlet competition plus 2 wins over 17U teams. A little over 2 weeks ago in the indyball.com tourney IE 2019 beat fellow Adidas Gauntlet participants EG10 and Louisville Magic by 19 and 18 points. To give some perspective, L'ville Magic won the Red division of the Gauntlet this past weekend with ease. The next weekend IE 2019 played up in the 17U division and won 2 games by double digits against IE Select and IE Green. Which led us to last weekend's Dallas Gauntlet where IE 2019 knocked off Garner Road, Cali Boost, Dreamvision and D1 Minnesota by an average of 17.5ppg. The ladder 3 are all ranked in Indihoops.com Top 20 as well. IE 2019 will have to defend its title quickly as it prepares for the Atlanta Gauntlet with an even tougher field, as the 2 best teams of Red Division have been bumped up to the Blue.

2020

This group is now 10-1 with its lone loss 65-61 to the No.1 ranked ATL Celtics. Much like 2019 this group started 4-0 at IndyBall beating fellow gauntlet teams EG10 and L'ville Magic by 23 and 25 points, in the semi's and championship game. IE 2020 played in the 16U Division over the Easter weekend and won the title with a 29 point win over Hoop Dreams, 39 point win over IE Green, and 21 point over Grand Park Premier. In the Dallas Gauntlet IE squared off with Basketball University beating them by 24, followed up by beating Gateway by 31, and D1 Minnesota (ranked 14th) by 10 before falling to the ATL Celtics. IE 2020 will look to win Gold in Atlanta but will have to face multiple traditional powerhouse programs just to make the championship game. This team will be up for the challenge.
